

Differentiated Instruction – Engaging All Learners

Set your students up for success! In this hands-on workshop, Differentiated Instruction-Engaging All Learners, we will discuss the concepts of differentiation and how diverse teaching techniques can help to inspire all learners. Differentiated Instruction is a responsive mind-set where the teacher is proactively planning for the needs of ALL learners. The more differentiated a classroom, the more its learners feel motivated resulting in higher student achievement. By the end of this workshop, you will be able to integrate activities into lesson planning which will be engaging for all learners.

Facilitator: Tania Fera-VanGent, Niagara College
For more information: tvangent@niagaracollege.ca

Resources:

Thousand, J. Villa, R. Nevin, A. Differentiating Instruction: Collaborative Planning and Teaching for Universally Designed Learning. Corwin Press: California, 2007.

Tomlinson, C. McTighe, J. Integrating: Differentiated Instruction. Understanding by Design. Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development: Virginia, 2006.

Google Docs.